BOSTON, Saturday (Reuter).

At least 30 men died and 40 were injured when an explosion ripped the 37,000-tm US zircraft carrier Leyte in drydock here during the night.

A fire burned for three hours after the explosion, while navail and evilian firemen fought to get it under control.

Rescue workers searched the wrackage late into the night for more possible victims.

Captain Thomas Ahroom, 45, who took command of the Leyte less than three works ago, said he thought that most of the dead were officers, with some cullsted men and civillan Navy Yard werkers.

The first flash of flame was sufficient to cause bad fires in the officers' ward room and the warrant officers' quarters, he stated. He thought the fire may have started below the hangar deck.

About 1,000 of the ship's crew were aboard at the time of the explosion, but her planes and officers of her flight squadron were all on a shore base.

The cause of the explosion has not yet been determined.

would reveal nothing but the usual pattern of brute force kept in bounds by excessive threats. Neutrality is foreign to the Eastern mind. Whoever is not with me, is against me — this age-long rule still holds good. The Arabs were quick to conclude that because the British were not with the Jews, they must be against them.

with the Liberation tri-colour flag (Black, White and Red).

The first accused was Ibrahim Abdel Hady who pleaded "not guilty" to all six charges.

The Counsel for the Defence complained that he had not been able to see documents regarding the charge of treason. The Prosecution then demanded that this charge should be heard in comers in the "supreme interest of the country." Counsel for the Defence objected, adding that the accused had not been interrogated in connection with that charge.

The argument continued and then Mire Mare'y, for the Defence said, "I deeply regret that I am forced to withdraw."

The Tribunal accepted Mire. Mare'y's withdrawal. When the President asked the secused if he would like to engage another lawyer, he replied that he had no more to say.

The Tribunal amounced that the first charge would be heard in comers after the other five charges.

"We appreciate Turkey's anxiety to defend her hinterland and keep her supply lines open in case of foreign attack. We realize that Britain and the U.S. are as anxious as Turkey to guarantee that safety. While understanding the fact that defence and regional safety are indivisible units, we note that Turkey's demand that the Arab countries link their destiny or at least Egypt's with hers, means that Arabs should in the first place defend Turkey's safety.

"Under these circumstances, and in our struggle against Imperialism, we hear that Turkey of escap is trying to protect her hinterland at the expense of Arablands and Egypt's sovereignty and we regretfully recall that Turkey has never considered Arab safety from any angle."
